You've struggled on this boat for quite some time now. You're nearly there--you can almost see the shore! The promise of this paradise is what made you go on this voyage. So you beat on like your life depends on it. But with each wave you conquer, a bigger one comes crashing in. The ocean obeys no laws but its own, and a sailor can only row so much.

and now so am I.

We talk about the tragedy of conflicting responsibilities, the tension between being a teacher and an employee, the luxury of knowing one's misery. When there is a knock on the door, a request to take a minute of my time, I am uncertain. Inside the story, there's more than enough room for everyone, but in my classlist, there aren't supposed to be that many.

[NO COMMENT]

Memo FPL 2019-014 is not a work of fiction. Any resemblance to real persons, living, dead, or in between, is deliberate and intentional.

You are highly encouraged to reproduce and distribute this chapbook, with or without prior consent from the organization, so long as you do not claim this work as your own and/or sell it for profit.

The UPLB Writers' Club is a non-profit organization of young writers and literature enthusiasts based in the University of the Philippines Los Baños.

The organization firmly believes that the right to education should be afforded to everyone. Any administrative policy that instructs otherwise should be disputed with utmost militancy, and any administrative officer that implements such policy should be held accountable.

Memo Variations is a mini-chapbook that takes its cue from Adam David's exeperiments in "The El Bimbo Variations". It reimagines UPLB Administration's Memo FPL 2019-014 in varying literary and non-literary forms, in an attempt to highlight its absurdity, and to contextualize it within the long history of UP Administration's continued student repression and negligence.
